The prosperity of modern Uzbek society is directly related to its material and spiritual spheres. Overcoming crisis situations in social life, economic, ecology, demographics due to global changes around the world and in our country requires collaborative efforts of the state and citizens to build a new type of society, in which the existing negative states of modern life are eliminated. What kind of society is this? This answer seems familiar to everyone: it is a legal society. Independent Uzbekistan is one of the main conditions for raising the legal knowledge of members of society and building a legal democratic state. People who are legally educated can feel that the legal state is based on the rule of law. As the president noted, both the arms and the protection and the eye and the word of the legal state are law. In a legal state, laws should always be a priority. At the same time, the development of legal technologies in schoolchildren is formed, first of all, under the influence of legal education. Legal education contributes to an increase in the level of discipline, strengthening the sense of duty and responsibility, and an increase in the legal culture of schoolchildren. The development of legal technologies of future teachers on the basis of an innovative approach also requires the upbringing of especially student-youth in the spirit of patriotism in order to establish a legal state and Legal Society. Because love for the motherland, patriotic feelings are not things that arise in a person spontaneously, unconsciously, are formed. They are formed and developed in each person on the basis of the education of society, influenced by the social cultural environment that surrounds it in society. Of course, these qualities are perfected in the individual's activities. Therefore, an innovative approach based on such qualities as perfection, knowledge, hard work, and moral purity is important in shaping the feelings of citizens and raising a humane, patriotic person. Because, these qualities increase spiritual and moral potential and social activity in a person, while accelerating socio-economic development, develop the duty and responsibility for performing the tasks of developing legal technologies. Therefore, the development of legal technologies of future teachers on the basis of an innovative approach to raising young people who are healthy, believing, mentally thoughtful, morally pure, deeply aware of their rights, duties and responsibilities forms the basis of the society. Therefore, further deepening democratic changes in the country and forming the foundations of a legal society, as well as improving the legal education of the younger generation, who are considered its builders, are urgent problems. Development of legal technologies and formation of legal culture: prevention of international terrorism, religious fundamentalism and extremism, which are growing in the world; the weakening of interest of some young people in education, work, socio-political life, the elimination of drug abuse, alcohol abuse, violations that have escalated between them; the full fulfillment of such requirements of each person as a free, independent conscious, creative, enterprising and full-fledged person with rights and masculinity, as an active participant in public administration. The development of legal technologies of future teachers on the basis of an innovative approach at the same time: a deep understanding of their duty and obligations, an active participant in the journey of life in society, a solver of current and future tasks facing the Legal Society, a direct and indirect participant in the management of society, a creator of material and spiritual, it is manifested as a person who fights for the prestige of the nation and the country, provides for the defense of the motherland.

A person with a high level of legal culture is "a person who is a keen connoisseur of the ratio of the benefits that he gives to society and the interests that he receives from society, and a subject who strictly adheres to the fact that in his practice this ratio is not disturbed." Although legal education and the formation of legal culture in it are complex and continuous processes, the years of study lay the foundation for this process. "Upbringing" in schools "fundamentals of spirituality", "history of Uzbekistan", "fundamentals of constitutional law", "foundations of economic knowledge", as well as a number of specialty disciplines according to the direction of the educational institution have great opportunities for students to develop their legal culture, legal consciousness, legal technologies. Consequently, in the teaching of these subjects, students get acquainted with the information about the spiritual and moral qualities that are reflected in the image of a competent person, about his physical competence and participation in the process of social relations, critically evaluate the characteristics inherent in his characters and try to lose their negative behavior. The development of legal technologies of future teachers on the basis of an innovative approach is the Integrative formation of the individual in maturing the self-legal, moral and political ability of a person. The main elements of future teachers are introduced into moral and legal culture, which is expressed in people with a responsible attitude towards their state and respect for other people. Its structural elements consist of the likes of moral education, Patriotic Education, Legal Education, which are interrelated. The culture of the innovative approach depends on the objective state of the state, the level of development of democracy and humanism in society, the formation of the point of view of each citizen, self-awareness The culture of an innovative approach is formed on the basis of the development of legal technologies by students and a deep understanding of the essence of the qualities that represent this state of affairs. In this regard, it is advisable to familiarize students with the actions necessary to be carried out by a citizen in the process of social relations of various content, their socio-ideological characteristics. Spiritual and educational activities organized in schools also occupy an important place in this place. Considering the influence of the social environment on the development of an innovative approach culture in students will allow for achieving the expected results. After all, the circumstances that occur in the social environment, their direction, content and essence, and the spiritual and moral views that occupy a priority place in society directly affect the formation of future teachers as citizens.
